

National Council of Jewish Women (NCJW) is a grassroots organization of volunteers and advocates who turn progressive ideals into action. Inspired by Jewish values, NCJW strives for social justice by improving the quality of life for women, children, and families and by safeguarding individual rights and freedoms.

- Representing more than 2,500 members and supporters in Los Angeles. NCJW's Los Angeles Section has been at the forefront of social change for over 100 years advocating on issues of gender related violence, human trafficking, economic justice, women's health and reproductive rights, individual, LGBTQ, and children's rights.
- Serving more than 12,000 in-need and at-risk individuals each year through our NCJW/LA Community Mental Health and Supportive Services and Youth Educational Programs and Services.
- Providing 25,000 hours of programs and services with the support of 600 volunteers.
- Giving over $25,000 in scholarships each year to empower women and families through education.
- Providing individuals and families with emergency assistance through our Esther Lewin Emergency Survival Fund.
- Giving away over 75,000 pieces of clothing through our annual Clothing Giveaway and Community Resource Fair as well as our Clothing Voucher program partnering with other organizations throughout Los Angeles.
- Educating, inspiring, empowering and connecting women and men through our various workshops and advocacy.
- Creating special programs that provide a positive impact to families as we serve them through our Adopt-A-Family program and to students through our Back 2 School Store program.

NCJW supports social service and social justice programs in Israel that effect and impact women, children and families.
